fendant tendered and paid into court $200, in full compromise of all matters in dispute, and on motion the case was dismissed.

The claim of the State is against the bondsmen of Baughman Brothers, predecessors of the Baughman Stationery Company, for $600, with interest from 1887, amounting to $1,400. All of the bondsmen are now dead. The case recalls one of the most formidable and well organized labor strikes in the history of the State. When the strike was called Baughman Brothers had a contract with the State for certain printing. Fulfilment of the contract Settlement by compromise of an an- was delayed by the strike passing the clent case in the City Circuit Court time limit allowed.
